

ABOUT MCMAA

THE MCMAA VISION

When people, especially children, encounter beauty, the experience speaks to the deep structure of their being. When people are taught to create beauty, they are more likely to experience personal transformation and move toward becoming more fully developed human beings, in mind, in body, and in spirit.

MISSION STATEMENT

The mission of MCMAA is to promote music and art in and around the Nederland, Colorado community, through a program of concerts, art exhibits and advocacy for the arts, and to provide opportunities for music and art education and performance.

Nederland Summer Concerts 2010

THANK YOU!!!

MCMAA appreciates your patronage and support of our efforts to bring high quality concert experiences to the Nederland mountain community.

As a non-profit run by volunteers, your tax-deductible gift is greatly appreciated and will help us continue to grow.

June 27 – “Violin Masterworks”

Jessica Oddie, accompanied by Dr. Obadiah Ariss will play the works of Brahms, Saint-Saens, Paganini, and J.S. Bach. This will be Miss Oddie’s fourth MCMAA appearance and those who have heard her play understand why we invite her back every year. Dr. Ariss is a gifted performer and as been a great supporter and participant in many MCMAA concerts. The opportunity to present a combination of skills like this is why MCMAA exists. A reception will follow the concert.

July 18 – “Horn Trio”

Local musician Zachary Cramer has been studying French horn in Sweden this past year. Obadiah Ariss is recognized as one of the finest accompanists around. David Brock is assistant Concertmaster of the Colorado Springs Philharmonic Orchestra.. Christie Hageman received her Masters of Music in Vocal Performance and is experienced in opera. A reception will follow the concert.

August 1 – “Opus Two”

We are proud to include the award winning “Opus Two” as part of our series this year. Opus Two is an internationally recognized piano/violin duo with many fine recordings to their name. The concert will include Copeland’s Sonata for Violin and Piano, Four Moments from Candide, by Bernstein as well as works by Starer and Corigliano. A reception will follow the concert.

August 22 – “Kailin Yong - Jeff Jenkins Duo”

Violinist Kailin Yong will team up with one of the top jazz pianists in the nation for this concert. The repertoire will include original composition by both musicians inspired by their desire to build bridges, find peace and provide healing vibrations to our fractured world and to celebrate the beauty, wisdom and abundance of Mother Nature and the Universe..

September 19 – “Bodha”

“Bodha” was so well received at our benefit concert for the Nederland MHS Theater Department that we invited them back. This energetic and creative ensemble will perform traditional Celtic, Old Time and Scandinavian tunes. Ryan Drickey will showcase his virtuosic fiddle playing while Dave Rynhart will perform a few of his own compositions. Fun! A reception will follow the concert.

October 19 – “Mountain Music Duo”

Tenly Williams and James Cline offer up the mesmerizing and beautiful blend of obo and guitar on this warm October afternoon. The concert will include classical works as well as their own unique arrangements of contemporary jazz and pop songs. A reception will follow the concert.
